Andrew Macklin practices mainly in the areas of construction litigation, complex commercial litigation, consumer protection and probate disputes. He has achieved excellent results for clients in each of these practice areas at every stage, from negotiation through trial and arbitration. He is admitted to practice before the state, federal and bankruptcy courts in New Jersey, as well as the state courts in New York and the Southern District of New York. *Results may vary depending on your particular facts and legal circumstances.

Prior to joining Brach Eichler, he was a Member of Cohn Lifland Pearlman Herrmann & Knopf LLP in Saddle Brook, New Jersey, having practiced there for nearly twenty years. He is a graduate of the Justice Morris Pashman American Inn of Court.

He has served as an adjunct professor at the Fordham University School of Law, teaching trial advocacy through the award-winning Brendan Moore Trial Advocacy Center.

Andrew recently completed his term serving on the Attorney Ethics Committee for District IIA.
